
Behold! CSS for the masses!

(Friday, 31 August 2007) - Contributed by Adam (Vergil) - Last Updated (Tuesday, 04 September 2007)

Or so I hope. In response to people seeming intimidated by CSS I have built a tutorial on how to make a very very simple XHTML/CSS page. This document is just the beginning though! In the future I plan to cover more things like adding a banner image, doing neat styles for links, doing different styles for nav links and normal links, etc. So please read, and enjoy! Let me know if you want to see anything in particular in the future. I hope to be able to update this somewhat weekly until I run out of things to write. {mos_sb_discuss: 4}