
The return!

(Thursday, 05 May 2005) - Contributed by Adam (Vergil) - Last Updated (Wednesday, 13 July 2005)

Real Commenting is back!

After much digging through www.mamboforge.com I managed to finally find a comments system like what we used to have back on the old machvergil site.

Now here's how this works.

- Only registered users can comment. This is my lazy-man's way of keeping spammers off the site and leaving comments. It also helps me know who is viewing the site.

- To comment on an article, you must click the "Read More" link to view the entire article. For some articles, like "SCI-FI > HI-FAN", you'd have to do this anyway to read the entire article. Where as for other articles, like this one that only uses intro text, you could read the whole thing without hitting "Read More."

Please give the system a try and let me know what you think!

Additionally, I have changed the Poll to now ask about shout it. While we have gained the commenter system, it is not a way for us to correspond as a community. It might be fun to have ShoutIT while I make up my mind on if I want to have a forum or not. Please let me know what you think about that.

In regards to the last poll, by the time I closed it, Artwork, rambles, and "Other" were all tied for first. Those of you who voted "Other" aren't off the hook! I'm gonna find out sooner or later what you had in mind by "Other!"

Untill then, I gotta take care of some things!